HIGH CLASS GLADIOLI

Including all of the most popular standard varieties together with many new and exclusive sorts of wonderful quality offered by no other growers.

OUR MOTTO: "Better Flowers and More Flowers for American Gardens"

LADIOLI, the aristocrats of the midsummer garden, are becoming more popular every year, and every season is bringing forth new varieties of wonderful size, form and color. We are growing these beautiful flowers by millions, and our lists include the cream of the stocks of Messrs. K. Velthuys and Peter Vos, of Holland, the bulbs having been brought to America by Mr. Vos, who is personally in charge of their culture at our Maple Park Farm.

It is with pleasure that we call attention to the new and exceedingly beautiful varieties offered in this list. Their beauty and splendor are unsurpassed. See the flowers and you will be fascinated with their wonderful form and coloring. Many of these have been produced only after years of patient study and skillful labor. The best is none too good for your garden.

Make Your Selections Now and Preserve This List for Future Reference.

Culture: Gladioli are of the easiest culture. They do best in light soil, well watered, but succeed where any plants will grow. Set the bulbs about 5 inches deep and not less than 4 inches apart. If set in rows, it is convenient to leave space enough for hoeing. The varieties vary as to time of blooming. By taking advantage of this and by successive plantings, the lovely blooms may be had from late June until well into September. In this latitude the bulbs cannot be left in the ground through the winter.
